DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 54, 58 and 59 are presented for examination. Applicant filed a Request for Continued Examination on 3/20/2001 canceling pending claim 1 and adding new claims 54-66. Applicant filed an amendment on 2/25/2002, canceling claims 55-57 and 60-66 and amending claims 58 and 59. Applicant further filed a request for continued examination and an amendment on 12/5/2002 adding new claims 67-72. New grounds of rejection of claims 54, 58, and 59 and 67-72 are established in the instant office action as set forth in detail below.

Response to Amendment

2. The affidavit filed on 12/5/2002 under 37 CFR 1.131 is sufficient to overcome the Fujimoto reference with respect to independent claim 54. The Examiner withdraws the grounds of rejection of claims 54, 58, and 59 based on 35 USC 102(e).

Information Disclosure Statement

3. The information disclosure statement filed 11/15/2002 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(2), which requires a legible copy of each U.S. and foreign patent; each publication or that portion which caused it to be listed; and all other information or that portion which caused it to be listed. Therefore, since Applicant failed to include copies of foreign patents and listed publications, the Examiner will not consider the listed foreign patents and publications. The Examiner notes that the Applicant need not supply copies of the listed foreign patents or publications if Applicant identifies current applications/priority documents which contain a copy of the listed foreign patents and/or publications.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 54, 58 and 59 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fu et al., Pat. No. 4,803,625 (hereinafter Fu).

As to claim 54, Fu discloses a patient interface system for use in collecting and transferring data from a patient to a remote monitoring system (Fig. 1 and abstract), said system comprising:

(a) a patient data input and data receiving means (i.e. home unit)(see Fig. 1) comprising:

(I) a sensor comprising a monitoring unit for monitoring a physiological parameter and producing a measurement (i.e. temp module 86, scale module 84, blood pressure module 92, optional modules 94, ECG module 88)(Fig. 2, and col. 5, line 63 - col. 6, line 8); and

Art Unit: 3626

(ii) an interrogation means comprising a means for creating visual and audio signals (Fig. 2, unit 60, col. 2, voice synthesizer 72 and display unit 68)(col. 5, lines 56-58);

(b) a processing means capable of receiving and storing data from said patient data input means (i.e. CPU 64 and mass storage 80)(Fig. 2, col. 10, lines 28-48);

c) a communication means capable of transferring said processed patient data from said processing means to a remote monitoring system and receiving instructional data from said remote monitoring system (i.e. composite log ... automated communication with the central unit and fast feedback from medical personnel.)(col. 4, lines 47-64).

As to claim 58, Fu discloses the system according to claim 54, wherein said interrogation means further comprises at least one of a keyboard, and a plurality of buttons (Fig. 2, units 74 and 76).

As to claim 59, Fu discloses the system according to claim 54, wherein said communication means comprises at least one of a modem and a serial interface (Fig. 1, unit 62).

As to claim 67, Fu discloses the system according to claim 54, wherein said processing means is further capable of storing a predetermined target value and a series of questions (i.e. temperature is within the reasonable range of 80-120 ... within physician specified expected range 97.2-100.0 ... schedule a question and answer session in the area of fever symptoms ...)(col. 11, line 45 - col. 12, line 7).

As to claim 68, Fujimoto discloses the system according to claim 67, wherein said processing means is further capable of comparing a sensor measured physiological parameter with said predetermined target value to determine a variance (i.e. temperature is within the reasonable range of 80-120 ... within physician specified expected range 97.2-100.0...)(col. 11, line 45 - col. 12, line 7).

(I) a sensor having a monitoring unit for monitoring a physiological parameter and producing an indicia related to the measurement (i.e. temp module 86, scale module 84, blood pressure module 92, optional modules 94, ECG module 88)(Fig. 2, and col. 5, line 63 - col. 6, line 8); and

(ii) a patient interface including a display (Fig. 2);

(b) a processor and a memory containing stored program instructions that are operable by the processor to receive and store data from the patient data receiver (Fig. 2, col. 8, lines 18-26 and col. 10, lines 28-48;

Art Unit: 3626

c) a communications link associated with the processor to transfer the patient data to the remote monitor (i.e. composite log ... automated communication with the central unit and fast feedback from medical personnel.)(col. 4, lines 47-64 and col. 5, lines 47-48).

As to claim 71, Fu discloses the system according to claim 70, wherein said interrogation means further comprises at least one of a keyboard, a plurality of buttons and a microphone (Fig. 2, units 74 and 76).

As to claim 72, Fu discloses the system according to claim 70, wherein said communication means comprises at least one of a modem, a serial interface, a LAN connection and a wireless transmitter (i.e. modem unit 62)(Fig. 1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 69 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over 67 as applied to claim 67 above, and further in view of Fujimoto, Pat. No.5,339,821.

Art Unit: 3626

As to claim 57, Fu does not explicitly disclose the system according to claim 55, wherein said processing means is capable of accepting and storing a new predetermined target value and series of questions from said remote monitoring system.

However, Fujimoto discloses wherein said processing means is capable of accepting and storing a new predetermined target value and series of questions from said remote monitoring system (col. 5, lines 1-13 and line 62 - col. 6, line 9 and lines 18-30). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of Applicant's invention to include wherein said processing means is capable of accepting and storing a new predetermined target value and series of questions from said remote monitoring system as disclosed by Fujimoto within the Fu system for the motivation of diagnosis inquiry effective for the disease or the condition of a particular user can be performed (col. 6, lines 25-30).

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

a. EP 251520 discloses a personal health monitor including sensors for measuring physiological parameters.
